Standing at an incredible 1,776 feet on the north west corner of the World Trade Center site, One World Trade Center (a.k.a. The Freedom Tower) is one of the most prestigious office location on the planet. With work having started on the project in 2006, the Tower was completed in 2014 and offers approximately 2.5 million sq/ft of premium office space spread over the 104 floors. With high profile companies, including the likes of publishing giant Condé Nast, purchasing space for their operations, it seems as if there might be stiff competition despite the size of the development.
